

Gaters To Encounter S. M. Five

Gaters Meet Bulldogs, Aggies in College Gymnasium

LINE - UP CHANGED

Opponents Have Good Defensive Records For Season

By HAROLD MARTIN

San Francisco State's strong defensive quintet will meet two of the strongest defensive teams in the schedule this week. The Golden Gaters will encounter San Mateo Junior College tonight, and will tangle with the Aggies Friday and Saturday evenings. All three contests will be played on the State court, starting at 8 o'clock.

Coach Dan Farmer's high scoring combination, which averaged 30 points a game previous to the last week, failed to score against Menlo J. C. and San Jose State, tallying only 58 marks in both tilts. The Gaters won a 30 to 24 victory over Menlo, and were defeated by the Spartans, 33 to 28. The San Jose back was the Gaters' first defeat in the last thirteen starts.

The Gaters have a record of thirteen victories in fifteen games. They have scored 604 points this season while the combined opponents total is 346 digits.

Changes in Lineup

Following the San Jose game, Coach Farmer stated that he would make a few changes in the Gaters' lineup. He has been experimenting with several combinations in an attempt to discover a team which can handle the ball perfectly. The Gaters' passwork has been poor all season, but they have been able to score victories due to the accuracy of the forwards. The probable starting lineup for the game tonight includes Carl "Scooter" Gelatt and Mervyn "Buc" Chioino, forwards; Ralph Mannion, center, and Harry "Sleepy" Williams, guards. Gelatt, the team's leading scorer, may be replaced by George "Slip" Miranda or Clement Zannini. He sustained a sprained ankle in the Spartan game, and may not be able to play the entire contest.

San Mateo Strong

Coach Murius McFadden, San Mateo mentor, boasts of a tall team which has held the combined position to a total of 100 points in five games, while they have scored 179 digits. The Bulldogs have lost only one game, to the University of Santa Clara varsity by a 37 to 35 margin. Their record includes a 48 to 8 victory over the Golden Gate Junior College five, the Gaters defeated the Jaycees last week, 63 to 13 and 34 to 22. The stars of the Bulldog team are "Swede" Anderson, center; Bob Beeby, forward, and Harry Ferguson, guard. All three of them played on the San Mateo team last year, which tied Marin Junior College for the Northern California Junior College championship.

Aggies Have Advantage

The Cal Aggie team, coached by Tip Toomey, should offer the Gaters plenty of competition due to their height advantage. The Aggies average 6' 3" in height, which gives them a three-inch edge over the small State five. Bernard Abbas, captain and center, is the Aggies' star. Against the strong S. F. team two weeks ago, he scored 13 points. Clinton Smoot and Clarence Lapp, guards, also have been outstanding in previous contests.

Ray Kaufman's speedy light-eight team will play the preliminary games to all of the contests. The "Baby Gaters" will oppose the Commerce High School varsity tonight, the Olympic Club's Friday night, and the Collegians Saturday evening.

The Commerce Bulldogs are one of the strongest teams in the local high school league, the Winged O's have defeated Menlo Junior College in an early season contest, and the Collegians lost a 39 to 36 decision to the California Secretarial School quintet, which means that the Gaters will have a hard battle on their hands every night.

BASKETBALL PEP RALLY IN GYM ON WEDNESDAY

Rival Captain, Yell Leader, and Coach Are Guest Program Speakers

At noon today a rally will be held in the women's gymnasium to further spirit for the three basketball games to be played this week. Jerome Kenney, rally committee chairman, announced.

Members of the varsity basketball team will be introduced to the student body. Coaches Dan Farmer and Ray Kaufman will speak on the chances of State teams defeating their remaining opponents.

San Mateo Coach Murius McFadden, the team captain, and student yell leader will be guests of honor, Kenney announced.

"Everyone should attend," said Kenney; "we have a winning basketball team—having lost only two games in sixteen—and should support it."

Plans for future rallies are under way, according to Kenney, and all members of the rally committee are working hard to give the student body a semester enriched with spirited assemblies. Several tentative plans under consideration are outlined by Kenney.

"Dick Coughlin suggested having a Capella Choir, Carols, and Carol Training Group get together and practice the college song, 'The Golden Tide is Rising,' and present it at the next rally," Kenney revealed. "In this way all the college can learn the melody and words. Mimeographed words will be passed out to the students."

Faculty to Participate

It has been suggested, as a second project, that faculty members should participate at the rallies. Hopes are being entertained by the committee that Dr. Knuth and Dr. Freeburg will give a Laurel and Hardy imitation. Unusual entertainment is expected from Miss Jessie Caschob and Mr. Kenneth King, reported by Kenney.

Committee Named

"Clem" Zannini will direct several skits which will be enacted by College Theater players, said Kenney. Gene Dumesnil will present a skit, "The Hymn Contest to be handled through the music and English departments. Grace Whitby and Dick Coughlin are co-chairmen of this project.

State Representatives

In Sacramento Meeting

With the aim of increasing the co-operation between community and college, the presidents of the seven State Teachers Colleges met in Sacramento last week. They decided to organize local community bodies to support the individual teachers colleges. San Francisco State was represented at this meeting by Dr. Alexander C. Roberts, president; Dr. John H. Butler, dean of the lower division, and Mrs. Bertha H. Monroe, chairman of the social science department; Dr. Boulware, extension division director, and Mrs. Mary Landers, representing the Parent-Faculty club.

Support was given the local group by the newly elected State Senator Walter McGovern, and Assemblyman Harold Brenan.

Through the various meetings, decisions were made to make but three requests of this session of the legislature:

1. To change the names of the colleges to "State Teachers Colleges" to "State Colleges."

2. To increase the budgets for this biennial.

3. That if a State building program is decided on, that the teachers colleges be included.

The meetings, held in the chambers of the State Supreme Court in the Capitol Annex, were attended by Superintendent Vierling Kersey, of the Department of Public Instruction.

'New Co-op Saves $650 Per Year,' Says Howard

The students' co-operative store begins the year in a new location with several changes in policy. The book store is now housed in the former manual arts room.

A change in the system of distributing student mail has been made. The abolishment of the old system of individual boxes, with students to distribute the mail, for the new method in which all students whose surnames begin with the same letter share a single box has two definite advantages, according to Student Body President Allan Howard.

"This arrangement saves the student body $650 per year, and it saves space, time, and an unlimited amount of waste paper," stated Howard. "The abolishment of the old system will help pave the way for cash rebates to students who make their purchases in the book store," Howard continued.

There is no other school on the Pacific Coast which has the old system, Howard pointed out, asking, "What is the matter with us that we can't get along without it, too, and save that $650?"

The new cafeteria system, employing a turnstile at the entrance so that the cafe may be used as a place to eat and not a social hall, was devised to accomplish the following: 1. The elimination of three cash registers; 2. allow an accurate check on finances; and 3. provide an adequate seating capacity for those who really want to eat.

"The installation of the ticket system," said Howard, "does not keep any students from entering."

"We hope to continue selling at the present prices through economies effected by a more efficient layout," stated Mr. Percy Marples recently. The students' co-op and cafeteria are owned and operated by the associated students and Mr. Marples is the manager.

Many Debates Scheduled for Forensic Club

Delta Sigma will launch its annual spring intramural debating tournament tomorrow afternoon, when the first two teams clash over the munitions control problem. More than fifteen teams are participating in the contests, according to Robert Van Houtte, president of the club.

Two or more teams will meet every day and the winners will not be decided until the latter part of January. Plans are being made to present the victors with an award.

Pi Kappa Delta Topic

"The purpose of the tournament," said Mr. Kenneth King, faculty debate coach, "is to give the various teams some actual experience and a chance to test their arguments under fire, in preparation for their coming participation in the Linfield, Oregon, and Stockton tournaments."

The Pi Kappa Delta question: "Resolved, That the Nations Should Agree to Prevent the International Shipment of Arms and Munitions" has been selected as the topic for the tournament.

Active Vacation Enjoyed

Delta Sigma had an unusually active vacation period, having debated with St. Mary's College over radio and met with the College of Pacific speakers upon the Stockton campus. Several preliminary intramural contests were also held.

Plans for the spring semester include debates with San Quentin Prison, University of California, Washington State, Gonzaga, and St. Mary's. The announcement of Van-Houtte today, "An oratorical contest open to all students," he continued, "is scheduled for February 14. We invite freshmen and other students to participate in this contest and also in the debating tournament."

Participate in Local Tournament

Delta Sigma will again participate in the Bay Counties Debate Tournament to be held on February 5 and 6 at the American Institute of Banking, 57 Sutter street. The winners of the tournament will meet the winners of last year's tournament, the After Dinner Club, and will receive a permanent trophy award. There will be about fifteen teams from State, the members including:

Group Elects Officers

The election of officers of the Music Federation will be held on Friday, January 18, in Room 211 in Anderson Hall.

The Music Federation has planned an extensive program this semester, including the Spring Music Festival, therefore all music students are urged to attend the election. James Snyder, president of the organization during the past semester, will preside at the meeting. The nominees are James Snyder for president; Nick Biedow for vice-president, and Meyer Cahn for treasurer.

The Siena Club of San Francisco State Teachers College will be hostesses to the faculty and student body of the college at a faculty reception and open house. This semi-annual event will take place next Wednesday afternoon, January 16, from 4 to 6 p. m., at Siena House.

Among invited guests are: President and Mrs. Alexander C. Roberts; Dean of Women Mary A. Ward; Dean and Mrs. Clarence DuFour; Director of Practice Teaching Dr. Brown and Mrs. Sherman L. Brown; Dean of Men Mr. Cox and Mrs. David Cox; Mrs. Walter Jones; Miss Nell Sullivan; Miss N. Scow and Mrs. W. McCarty, sponsors of the club.

In charge of the reception will be Miss Betty Ryan. Hostesses include the officers of the club and chairman of the committees: Albert Starovich, Agnes Donovan, Madelyn De Martini, Inez Glackin, Marian Hicks, Eleanor Lalanne, Grace Whitby, Virginia Mattei, Mafalda Angelini, Virginia Hausmann, Agnes Barron, Victoria Silveria, Viola Curtin, Marian Curry, Norren Neuman, Josephine Tonge, and Betty Ryan.

Assisting on the various committees will be: Evelyn Donati, Marian Hanrahan, June Aselin, Geraldine Burke, Betty De Young, Catherine Faulkner, Virginia Gilden, Gail O'Grady, Alice Baldwin, Louise Parodi, Irene Galigni, Dorothy Crow, Ruth Desmond, Ramona Galens, Winifred Kelly, Marian McLoughlin, and Betty Anne Martinelli.

First Board Meeting Today

Three important projects will be launched this afternoon at the first meeting of the Student Executive Board, according to Student Body President Allan Howard.

An extensive advertising campaign will be given support by the Board, Howard stated. Further plans will be revealed after the meeting.

Work toward a new place of graduation will be begun immediately. Widespread dissatisfaction among students has been voiced concerning graduation exercises taking place at junior high schools. Howard did not confirm the report that the local teachers college has been recognized by the National Education Association as one of the leading state teachers colleges accredited by the American Association of Teachers.

Upon investigation the education committee found that San Francisco State could handle 1000 more students, and could easily accommodate the 800 students that commute daily to junior colleges outside the city.

A small increase in housing facilities would be necessary," the committee stated. "The State legislature appropriated at its last session $165,000 for additional buildings for San Francisco State. This sum is untouched and available for necessary temporary buildings needed."

New Course Added to College Curriculum

A new course has been added to the curriculum of the college, English 126, which was given by the consent of the instructor. The object of the course is to give the best talent in the school an opportunity to work on serious plays, and Miss Jesse D. Casebolt, instructor in English, says that they propose to do about three plays this semester, the first one to be "The Cradle Song" by Sierra Martinez. So far, the class has spent two days in spontaneous reading of one-act plays. "Much talent has been found," says Miss Casebolt. "The group is very enthusiastic. This course gives the serious minded people a chance to get experience in dramatics."

New Books Listed On Bulletin Board

For the convenience of the students, the college library has posted on the bulletin board, opposite the loan desk, a typewritten list of all recent books obtained by the library.

JAYSEE PLANS DEPEND UPON BOARD ACTION

Haight-Ashbury Chairman Cites Importance of Dr. Lee's Report

Mrs. H. C. Rothwell, chairman of the Haight-Ashbury Improvement Association education committee, reports that plans for a junior college in conjunction with San Francisco State are at a standstill at present.

No recent action has been taken by the San Francisco Board of Education. They are waiting for a report by Dr. Edwin Lee, superintendent of schools, before submitting a report to the State Board of Education. Dr. Lee is making a thorough investigation of the junior college situation at present.

Need Stressed

The Improvement Association has been working a year to secure a junior college in San Francisco. On November 13 the Education Committee presented a complete report to the local Board of Education, asking their co-operation. The board voted to put the matter into the hands of Dr. Lee, and he was asked to make a survey.

The San Francisco Board of Education has been considering a junior college for some time. The present public demand started five years ago. A complete survey of the junior colleges in California was made by Dr. Joseph Gwinn, former superintendent of schools, and he outlined the situation for the board last June.

Dr. Gwinn Reports

In a report to the local school board on June 18, 1934, Dr. Joseph M. Gwinn, former superintendent of San Francisco schools, revealed that junior college courses could be established in San Francisco State by a resolution of the school board requesting approval from the State Board of Education. The school board would control and administer the junior college and would provide the necessary financial support. There is no reason for withholding such an approval.

A mutual agreement between the San Francisco Board of Education and the local Board of Education authorities would be necessary. The city would have to bear the teaching cost and pro rata of upkeep and administration.

Possibilities Stated

There are two possibilities for establishing a junior college: a separate institution, established by vote of the people called by school board, or a special department in conjunction with a high school or state teachers college.

Whether the junior college will be established in conjunction with the local teachers college or as a separate institution, is a matter for the board of education to decide. They have referred the matter to Dr. Lee, and he is to report to them at a later date.

Enriched Curriculum Possible

The Education Committee cited, in their report to the San Francisco Board of Education, that State can offer junior college students a larger and enriched curriculum. The local teachers college has been recognized by the National Education Association as one of the leading state teachers colleges accredited by the American Association of Teachers.

Upon investigation the education committee found that San Francisco State could handle 1000 more students, and could easily accommodate the 800 students that commute daily to junior colleges outside the city.

A small increase in housing facilities would be necessary," the committee stated. "The State legislature appropriated at its last session $165,000 for additional buildings for San Francisco State. This sum is untouched and available for necessary temporary buildings needed."

Journalism Fraternity Makes Extensive Plans For Ensuing Semester

BOARD TO NAME NEW APPOINTEE

The Board of Publications of San Francisco State Teachers College will hold its first meeting for the spring semester tomorrow at noon. Many important issues concerning the various publications of State will be discussed.

Business of the meeting will consist of approval of the staffs of the Golden Gater and Franciscan, and discussion of several ordinances to be approved by the Board. Student director of publications, Harry Marks, will act as presiding officer.

Members Listed

Other members of the Board of Publications are: Clarice Dechent, secretary; Beverly Lyon, James Snyder, Henning Edlund, and Renaldo Pagano. A vacancy on the Board left by Rayvern Van Marter will be filled by the faculty members on the Board are Miss Grace Carter, principal of the training school; and Miss Cecelia Anderson.

The function of the Board of Publications is to regulate and control the publications of the student body, and it is responsible for the management of said publications. It is this board of six members appointed from the student body, and a student director elected by the student body, that approves all staffs, candidates for staff membership on any publication, and chooses editors and business managers. If any difficulties arise in the publications field, it is the duty of the board to straighten things out.

Mark's Chairman

Marks, as student director, is a member of the governing board of the college, and it is in this way that the board is connected to the student body administration. The board has set up as its objectives the following: to develop the student body's interest in journalism, to provide a medium for the expression of student opinion, and to provide a medium for the expression of student opinion.

Bi-weekly meetings are held by the Board of Publications, and these are closed except on occasions when editors or business managers are asked to attend in order to submit reports of their activities, or their recommendations for successors of staff members.

Joint Meeting Of Two Large Clubs

"Can America Keep Out of the Next World War?" is the subject of an address to be given by Dr. Lawrence Kinnaird, member of State's faculty, before a combined meeting of the Sphinx Club and Delta Sigma. The meeting will be at 4 p. m. next Wednesday in Room 109.

The talk is expected to arouse considerable interest among the members, according to Dr. Elias Arnesen, Sphinx sponsor, because both organizations have been recently engaged in discussions upon arms control and neutrality problems.

Wednesday's gathering will mark the first formal meeting of the Sphinx society. Henning Edlund, president, has invited all freshmen and new students who are interested in forum discussion to attend the meeting.

Dr. Arnesen, who is resuming his duties as sponsor for the club, announced a program for the Spring semester which will include talks by nationally prominent speakers and a series of forum discussions on world problems.

Workers Needed

"Students who may be interested in doing social service work with children in a community center please see me at once," Dr. Sherman L. Brown, director of practice teaching, announced.

A dozen or more students are needed immediately for this work. It will continue for the entire spring semester, but will call for only one or two hours per week.

Students are needed in the following fields: sewing, arts and crafts, games, dramatics, kindergarten, dancing, and music. Classes began on January 14. All arrangements concerning work must be made through Dr. Brown immediately.

First Meeting Next Friday Evening; Entire Plan Will Be Discussed

Publishing of Handbook, High School Press Meet Scheduled in 1935

For the purpose of promoting the welfare of the college through journalistic activities, State's chapter of Alpha Phi Gamma has planned several projects for this semester. The entire plan will be discussed at a meeting Friday night at Gail Andrews' home, 540 Page street, starting at 9 o'clock.

All active members, associate members, and pledges are requested to attend this first business session. The schedule for the semester will be completed, and the various projects will be discussed, according to Miss Andrews, president of the local chapter. The election of a new secretary and selection of pledges will also be included in the program.

Four Projects Under Consideration

Alpha Gamma's activities for the semester will probably include the following: sponsoring a high school press convention, publishing a handbook for the entire fraternity, giving a journalism tea, and working on an expansion program.

The high school press convention will probably be held during the latter part of the semester. All of the high schools in the bay area will be invited to attend. This will be the first press convention ever held at State, and will be Alpha Gamma's second convention on the local campus. Three years ago the Western Section of Alpha Phi Gamma held its annual meeting in San Francisco.

Journalism Tea Planned

The journalism tea planned by Alpha Gamma will be given to acquaint new students with other people in the college who are interested in publications. Two prominent San Francisco newspaper men will be asked to discuss journalism as a student activity at this meeting. There are several interesting speakers on the tentative list. A committee will be appointed Friday to make arrangements for the affair.

The work on the fraternity handbook will consist of obtaining the names and addresses of every member of Alpha Phi Gamma and compiling them. The local delegates to the recent western convention at Redlands volunteered to make a complete record.

Expansion Program Discussed

There are twenty-seven chapters in Alpha Phi Gamma at present, and the national extension committee hopes to add at least ten more before the end of the year. Harold Martin, western extension chairman, will discuss the proposed program at the meeting Friday.

Four students at State are members of national committees. Miss Andrews is chairman of the public relations committee, Ruth Walker and Elsa Magnus are on the activities committee, and Martin is western extension chairman.

Alumni Seeks Roll Increase

The San Francisco State Teachers Alumni Association is planning something new in a drive of reorganization.

They plan to obtain a paid membership of one thousand members and to increase the alumni activities. Plans are being laid to have a separate alumni association for each neighborhood district and thereby increase the interest in alumni members who previously found it impossible to attend the meetings held here.

In the first meeting which is to be held in Cotati, Sonoma county, Miss Florence Vance, State registrar, is expected to participate. The meeting will be held Wednesday, January 16.

Meetings have been planned for each month and a report from the constitution committee is expected at the next meeting.

The membership fees to the organization are only a dollar a year and the requirements are simply graduation from this college. Only paid up members, however, are to receive reports of the organization's activities. And be allowed to participate in the regular meetings, social or otherwise. The present president of the organization is Lorraine Meyer.

VALUE OF LITERATURE EXPLAINED

Miss Hermine Henze, school librarian, gave a talk on "Children's Books" at the December meeting of the Frederic Burk P. T. A. meeting. Miss Henze explained to the parents the beauties and educational value of a number of books, and typed lists of suitable books were distributed.

According to Miss Henze, with stories describing various occupations, industries and remote places, children absorb numerous facts which would soon be forgotten if presented as cold facts; while with charming photographs or drawings they are made more interesting, and are stored away in the subconscious mind for future reference.

It is to be hoped, stated Mrs. Henry Scholten, president of the organization, "for the sake of the children, that many homes are brightened by books, because of that fine talk by Miss Henze."

Operetta Commented Upon
Frederic Burk Parent-Teacher Association extends its thanks to all who so liberally participated toward the production of "Tatefina." This lovely operetta was given on December 7 in two performances. Children of the grammar grades wrote the libretto, lyrics and music, and Mrs. Mary McCauley edited them and trained the chorus. She also acted as accompanist.

The entire production, worked out by the children as a tribute to Frederic Burk Parent-Teacher Association, was declared a success by all who attended. With its element of suspense, its gypsy lore, its lilting, haunting tunes, it held its audience spellbound to the last curtain with a completeness often missing in professional performances.

Thanks to all members of the grammar grades who took part in any way, and to faculty directors—Mrs. Mary W. McCauley, Miss Jessie Casbolt, Miss Susan Beenteen, Miss Bernice Van Gelder. The teacher committee chairmen included: Richard Coughlin, Evelyn Willey, Ruth James, Harriet Beecher, Lucy Weeks, Agnes Sullivan, Alice Bissell, Elsie Geddes, and John Keeler.

Cast Listed
The operetta cast was as follows: Tatefina, Sonia Lesh—understudy; Evelyn Sohst; Roma, Edith Head; Belda, Barbara Wase; Nadja, Phyllis Smith; additional solo parts, Janna van der Wal and Harriet Whitehead; Josiah, Kenneth Randall; Conrad, Jordan Brotman; Gerald Newton, Bill Graves; Castro, Jack Dodson; King, Bill Garry; Sorceress, Audrey Denning; Sylvia, Adeline Anderson; additional solo parts, Jeanne Burgess, Bill Graves, Dick Winters, and Evelyn Sohst.

W. A. A. Plans For Semester

The Women's Athletic Association presents a schedule of women's athletic events that point to a busy and interesting semester of activities. An extensive intramural program, similar to those in the larger universities, will be one of the highlights of the semester. It is expected that all clubs on the campus will enter teams in competitive sports. Club presidents will meet at an early date to make rules and regulations for the intramural women's sports. A trophy will be given to the winning club team.

The Women's Athletic Association is open to all women in the college and new students, especially, are urged to join. We are making our program as diversified as possible so all women will find an interest in it. The W. A. A. is planning a swimming party for Tuesday, January 22, for the new students. All new students have been given advisors who will try to aid them in finding some sport or activity which interests them.

The W. A. A. is also under its first term of a new awards system. Anyone can receive a pennant for a year and one-half of participation in a team and individual sport. A pin will be given for three years of sports. Students must have a "C" average to receive the award.

The following sports are being offered this semester: Baseball, Monday noon; tumbling on Wednesday noon; folk dancing on Thursday noon; hiking and a women's doubles tennis tournament.

As added attractions the W. A. A. will sponsor social dancing on Thursday noon, a mixed doubles tennis tournament, and mixed recreation on Saturday evenings, the dates of which will be announced soon.

Executive Board Commends Gater

Dear Editor:
May I, on behalf of the Student Body, congratulate you on the marvelous work that has been accomplished by you and your staff in the editing of the Golden Gater this last semester? To say that we are proud of our third year of all-American rating is putting it mildly—may you keep up the good work in the spring of 1935.

Sincerely,
BETTY MACDONALD,
Secretary.

Fraternity Founder At Ceremony

Mrs. Loomis Began One of the Organizations at Broad Oaks Training School in Pasadena

Members of Epsilon chapter of Delta Phi Upsilon were hostesses to other California chapters at the annual Founders Day banquet held last Friday evening. This affair at the Women's City Club marked the celebration of the twelfth birthday of the National Honorary Fraternity of Early Childhood Education.

Miss Eleanor Wilson, alumna of Santa Barbara, and an active advocate of the early childhood educational movement, acted as toastmistress of the evening. Among the guests of honor was Mrs. Marjorie Loomis, one of the founders of the fraternity, which was founded at the Broad Oaks Training School in Pasadena.

Miss Alice P. Alcutt, a member of Charter Chapter, and also of the Kindergarten-Primary staff at San Francisco was introduced, and spoke words of fitting commendation. Miss Lynette Maas, also of the Kindergarten-Primary staff, was introduced.

Other Chapters Greet
Greetings from other chapters in various parts of the United States were read by the toastmistress. Miss Lois Rake, president of the alumna chapter of San Francisco State, extended the greetings of her group, as did Marian Woolley, president of the active chapter. Representatives from Zeta chapter of San Jose State, and Delta chapter of Chico State then added their messages.

Miss Rake also told about the Thrift Shop at 631 Haight Street, sponsored by Delta Phi Upsilon. The shop, which will be a year old in March, is doing quite a business. All things sold in the shop are donated by friends, fixed over, and sold to people in the neighborhood at very low prices. In this way, the poorer people are not directly dependent on charity for clothing, etc. The money made by the chapter through the shop is then used to purchase glasses for school children who need them. The members of the chapter take turns in serving as saleswomen in the shop.

Talks on Common Project
Miss Marian B. Barbour, former member of the Kindergarten-Primary staff, gave an interesting talk urging the different chapters to unite in an attempt to study the youth movements in their respective cities. This study would be a common project for all chapters, as the Thrift Shop is the individual project of Epsilon chapter.

Miss Barbour also expressed her hopes that a center of social work like a neighborhood house. This would be begun by starting small story groups, community sings, or sewing classes in the shop on certain days of the week. Perhaps with the aid of other clubs in the college interested in social work, a Haight Street House, similar to the Hull House, might be started, stated the speaker. She also asked the members to think about her ideas, and perhaps have some ideas of their own to express at the convention to be held next summer in Santa Barbara.

Urged to Spread Work
Miss Evelyn Chastain, president of the California Kindergarten-Primary Association, in her speech dealt with the limited knowledge the layman has about the work with young children, and the fact that few people realize its importance. She urged that the members of Delta Phi Upsilon attempt to make better known the value of the work, so that the field would grow.

To close the celebration of the twelfth birthday, all present united in the Delta Phi Upsilon hymn.

State's Winchell Returns to Study

With his same effervescent personality, the Snake Doctor returned after a leave of absence to delight his friends with stories of their friends that their friends thought were secret. . . which is all very involved, but the Snake Doctor, Wesley Johnson, causes entanglements. How many romances has he started, how many maidens has he wrecked, how many maidens faces has he brought a blush of embarrassment as an intimate story appeared in bold black type in the Golden Gater? Only the Snake Doctor could tell. . . but the girls may feel secure again, and the men with a yen for a ball and chain need not worry, for the inimitable Wes has turned over a new leaf.

With his left hand over his heart, and his right hand waving high in the air, he solemnly declared:

"No more college activities! I'm going to devote my time entirely to my studies." (. . . until he hears a good story.)

W. A. A. Reception

The W. A. A. will hold their traditional first reception this Friday afternoon from 4-6 in Frederic Burk auditorium. Entertainment has been planned, and refreshments will be served. All are invited, with a special invitation to girls who are new to State and W. A. A.

... State's Yell Leaders ...

Gus Bevel, Virginia Conlan, Jerome Kenny, Mary Biggan, and Bob Links, who will lead the yells at today's rally.

Golden Gater Fall Semester Staff Chosen

With this issue of the Golden Gater, a new staff of journalists assumes responsibility for the issuance of the paper. Elsa Magnus has been retained by the Board of Publications as editor. Frank Schwass succeeds Stanley Sieber as business manager, while Ruth Walker, feature editor of last semester, replaces Juanita Gregg as news editor. Kay Buckley has been chosen to fill the vacancy created by Miss Walker's promotion, and is in charge of the editorial page as feature editor. Vernon Whitney will replace Reinaldo Paganano as men's sports editor.

Helen Lofrano continues to serve as circulation manager, while Art Rosene is the new advertising manager, following Nadezda Lawrence.

New Columnist to Appear
In view of the increased activities of the music department, a columnist has been chosen to cover the work of that group. He is Meyer Kahn, whose column appears for the first time in this issue of the Gater. Other veteran columnists who are continuing to contribute to the Gater include: Rev. "Maybe I'm" Lyon, Harry "Hit and Miss" Marks, and Mary Tuck, who has served in various capacities on the paper for the last two years, has been selected to edit the exchange, "Other Campi," column.

Pauline Quirk will be women's sports editor this term. She is replacing Dolores Waters, who held that position last semester. The editorial assistant will be Bob Van Houtte, while the staff reporters will include Nadell Nathan, Aimee Salomon, Jack Cykman, and Erwin Bischoff.

Spring Music Festival Plans About Complete

Plans for the 1935 Spring Music Festival are nearing completion, according to Mr. Donald Sandifur, assistant in music.

A program of music by Bach, Greig, Bizet, music from the opera "Carmen," a Viennese waltz by Strauss, and a number by Debussy will be presented.

"I hope to perform a composition by the contemporary Spanish composer De Falla, which is being produced by the Monte Carlo Ballet here soon," said Mr. Sandifur. Some solo and small ensemble numbers are being arranged as special features of the concert.

All clarinetists, flutists, altos or horn players, bass players and saxophonists interested should apply to Mr. Sandifur immediately. The band meets on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 11:30.

Club Members Dance

Kappa Delta Tau, State's dance society, under the direction of Miss Bernice Van Gelder, will dance at the Fairmont Hotel for a professional women's club this afternoon at 2 o'clock.

"Driven" and "Tranquility," two popular dances from the sorority's last dance recital, will be presented. "The Dance Problem," a study in circular and linear design, presented recently at the University of California dance symposium, will be included in the varied program.

Council Plans First Assembly For Newcomers

As their first activity of the semester the Student Advisory Council has planned, under the direction of their chairman, Dorothy Jean White, an assembly for all the new students at State. This assembly will take place on January 17, in Frederic Burk auditorium.

At this assembly a program will be given in which the various clubs and organizations of the college will be represented. The purpose of this assembly is to acquaint the new students with the social clubs and organizations at State.

Assisting the chairman, Miss White, will be John Goodwin, vice-chairman of the council; Dorothy Bates, Marjorie Angell, Barbara Watson, Helen Pauli, Dorothy Abernathy, Jessie Borge, and Paula Brendell. Decorations have been arranged by Helen Horwege and Marie Porteous. Refreshments are in charge of Dagmar Blohm and Eldred Bates. The entertainment is being taken care of by Helen Pauli and the invitations are being sent out by Paula Brendell and Jessie Borge.

Phi Lambda Chi is an organization for Protestant women. The club engages in social and service activities, and membership is obtained by recommendation of members of the organization. Only students above a freshman standing may join, and these are required to have at least a "C" classification. Features of the organization each semester are the pajamarino and "Hell day" held for the new initiates. Plans for these functions will probably be made at the first regular meeting of Phi Lambda Chi.

Miss Henze Visits Panama Canal Zone

While State students were enjoying Christmas at home, surrounded by their families and friends, Miss Hermine Henze, head librarian of Frederic Burk School, who made a trip through the Panama Canal during vacation, spent a novel Christmas on board ship in the middle of the Caribbean Sea during the stormiest day of the whole year. Being one of the fortunate passengers to escape seasickness, Miss Henze said that all the officers and members of the crew united in their efforts to make the day one of joy and gaiety, and that she enjoyed herself to the utmost, and never missed not having spent Christmas elsewhere. The boat was transformed into a gayly decorated one of festivity, and a spirit of fun and good fellowship was prevalent among all the passengers.

Camera Discovered by Student After Search

The expensive Graflex camera which had been loaned to the college last Circus Day turned up the other day in a Third street pawn shop. Dan Baker, annual editor, happened to be in the store with another State student who was looking for a gun. The proprietor offered the Graflex for sale, and it was a small splash of blue poster paint that Bob Marcus had spilled on the camera last Circus Day, which made Baker feel that this was the stolen article. A subsequent check with the firm owning the camera and with Mr. Nees, office, which had the serial numbers, resulted in reclamation of the article by the police and a relieved feeling on the part of the Annual editor, from whose suitcase in Dr. Kinnaird's office the Graflex had been stolen.

STUDENT OPINIONS REVEALED

Front and Sport Pages Are Favored in Poll of News Read by Collegians, Digest Second

"What do college students read in college papers?" That question has been asked by every student editor between the Atlantic and Pacific many times, and each time a complaint against the school paper is made, he asks it again. Just what do college students read in their school paper? The information, as given by Mr. Byrne J. Horton, after a research while a larger percentage "never" read the paper, is most surprising.

The students were classified as those who read the paper always, those who generally read it, those who read it sometimes, and those who never read it. The following are a few of the surprising figures.

Who Reads College Papers?

| | Men | Women |
|-----------|-----|-------|
| Always | 64 | 75 |
| Generally | 24 | 18 |
| Sometimes | 11 | 7 |
| Never | 1 | 7 |

The principal reasons why the front page was "always" read included the following: "Best news," "interesting," "it contains news which concerns everyone." A large percentage of the students read editorials sometimes "when the title appears interesting." The editorials because they are "too interesting," or "too dry." The sport page is read or not depending upon whether a student is or is not interested in sports. It was found that only a few students confine their reading to the sport page.

Gossip Is Popular

The campus gossip is read eagerly by the women in every year of college while the men do not miss a great deal. Reasons given by men for reading this "scandal sheet" are: "to get the latest dirt," "it's humorous," "it's interesting in campus news," and "it's amusing to me." The women reason in the following ways: "I love the gossip," "it's clever," "it's enjoyable," and "why not?"

The next question which was "What part of your college paper do you like the best?" The three most frequently mentioned (in order of frequency) are: For men, 1, the sports page; 2, the front page; 3, campus gossip. For women, 1, campus gossip; 2, front page; 3, general oddities.

Editorials Unpopular
Likewise the question, "What part of your college paper do you like the least?" The men answered in the following manner: 1, society; 2, editorials; 3, co-ed chatter. The women liked the least: 1, sports; 2, editorials; 3, society and ads.

Advertisements Successful
One of the most important items in every school paper is the advertisements. In the research at the De Paul University the students were asked: "Place a check before each of the following items which were contained in our last issue." A list of ads was given, some of which were not contained in the issue. Ninety-two percent of the students were able to identify the correct ads in the paper.

Suggestions for improvement most frequently suggested were: introduce a "Voice of Student" column; likewise, "An Inquiring Reporter"; run short stories or a serial story; add a column of jokes, stress intramural sports, etc.

JR. CLASS PLANS FOR MEETING

Plans for Junior Day and the Junior Prom will be discussed at the first meeting of the Low Junior class, to be held next Tuesday, January 22. The meeting will be in the form of a dinner in the cafeteria, and will begin at 6 p. m. There will be a charge of twenty-five cents per plate.

Ed Cockrum, president of the class, has already made many ideas on and suggested improvements for the class and its affairs. Part of these were secured through the aid of a questionnaire which Cockrum compiled and issued to all members of the class at the close of last semester. These sheets contained questions on the class meeting, and Junior Day and the prom. From the large number of answers returned, it seems that the class of '36 is in favor of a semi-formal prom held at a country club. The majority preferred to have class meetings in the form of dinners, with entertainment if possible.

Cockrum has also announced that appointment of committees will be regulated by attendance at class meetings. He also announced that the first committees will be named at the meeting on Tuesday.

"All new transfers of Low Junior status are cordially invited to our class meetings," said the president. "We are hopeful that a large number of them will make our meetings a habit, as there is strength in numbers."

Officers elected at the end of last semester to assist the president in his term of office are: Dolly Sonderup, vice-president; Ruth Rechter, secretary-treasurer; and Harriet White, A. W. S. representative.

Solution of Modern Problems Discussed By State Colleges

One of the big events in collegiate affairs took place during the Christmas vacation when 500 students representing 40 colleges of the Pacific Coast met at Asilomar, Monterey county, to discuss a Christian solution to modern problems. The delegates were a cross-section of student opinion on Pacific Coast camps. Many student body officials and prominent student leaders attended the meeting.

Dr. Alfred Fisk, a member of State faculty, who attended the conferences, observed that economic and international issues were pre-eminent. Dr. Fisk led a discussion on "Proposed Methods of Social Control."

The highlight of the convention was an address by Miss Muriel Lester, "The Jane Adams of England." Miss Lester spoke on "Ways to Freedom." The distinguished visitor is head of Kingsley Hall in London, a settlement house at which Gandhi stayed during his last visit to London.

Kirby Page, author and lecturer, spoke on "Individualism and Freedom." The conference was sponsored by Young Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations of 40 Pacific Coast colleges, including Hawaii, and is an annual affair.

ON THE HORIZON

Facing the Music
What a prospect! Members of the 74th Congress face a crisis in legislation. On what they accomplish or fail to accomplish may rest the fate of these United States. The present crisis is a social one made up of a number of specific crises in all phases of economics, politics, and international affairs.

Unemployment insurance, old age pensions, pure food and drug legislation, soldiers' bonus, national defense, education, inflation, banking, labor measures, power and last but not least, revision of the N.R.A. are only a few of the mazes of bills facing the legislators.

Across the Sea
What's an ocean to Amelia Earhart? She flies over them with less ado than most of us make in trying to catch a ferry boat. The ease with which Miss Earhart spanned the Pacific is more than indicative of the progress of aviation. It is a challenge to those who think we can exist separate and apart from the rest of the world. Closer and closer we are to Europe, Asia, Africa. More and more world problems are our problems. Can we ignore them? Not and go on existing. Does the answer lie in greater armament? No. Rather we should say in greater understanding and co-operation.

Those who argue for self-containment must be subsidized by steel magnates who would sell to steel to erect a huge wall rising into the stratosphere. Even then we would find an August Picard soaring above that wall.

Pure Food and Drugs
Back to haunt the 74th Congress comes the Tugwell-Copeland pure food and drug bill, yelled down last session by a powerful drug lobby. This bill introduced as a strengthener of the Harvey pure food and drug act of 1906, had most of its teeth extracted but there are those who promise new teeth for the bill.

We wonder if advertisers and manufacturers of medication, food and drugs will be able to make Congressmen forget that election time approaches and that the American people are getting tired of being gyped and poisoned.

Congressmen might well remember that slowly but surely consumer education is being conducted by public and private organizations and that just as slowly but just as surely citizens are learning to make good use of their ballots, and that slowly but surely certain Congressmen will bite the dust.

Alphabet Soup
With numerous members of the alphabet family growing into long words, we wonder if this Congress will give birth to or play offshoot to any new members of the clan. With all the measures coming before them they will have to use alphabets, or at least nicknames, to identify them.

CLUB ELECTS
The newly elected officers of the Open Road Club are planning many novel and entertaining programs for the ensuing semester.

STATE-SAN MATEO CONTEST TONIGHT

WITH WHIT

By VERNON WHITNEY

Well, all good things must come to an end, and the State basketball team's winning streak, which had extended through twelve straight contests, was snapped last Saturday night by the San Jose State Spartans, by a score of 33-28. The issue was never in a state of much doubt; the Spartans dropping in their first field goal before the echoes of the opening whistle had died away, and quickly running up a 9-1 lead early in the first half. They left the court for the intermission with a comfortable 20-9 margin on the score board, and were never headed at any point in the game.

The Gaters did show improved form in the second half over their earlier ball-handling, poor shooting, and general all-around desultory play of the first half, but the Spartan lead was too great, and the closest that the Purple and Gold warriors got was at 29-26, and 32-28, shortly before the final gun.

Gaters Take Menlo
Last Friday evening, in the college gym, we watched the Gaters stagger through to a 30-24 win over the Menlo Junior College Oaks. The State five played like a bunch of drunken men, and were lucky to walk off the court with the ball game. It was the tip-off as to what was to occur the following night against San Jose, many a Gater adherent being brought out of his reverie of the Purple and Gold invincibility by the way the team played against the J. C. boys.

As a basketball game, the contest was only so-so, but those who were present were treated to as brilliant a bit of individual work as any opposing player has displayed against State this season. Menlo had a guard named Comba, who is a basketball player from the top of his head to the bottom of his feet. Not one of those "long star Rangers," as the "wolfish" type that takes all the shots is called, Comba is strictly a team player, and in the bargain, he is a leader—a boy with something between the ears other than bone and muscle. When it comes to basketball, Comba was a thorn in the side of the Gaters all evening what with his dribbling, generalship, ball-handling, and all-around play. An aggressive player, he took several nasty spills during the course of the encounter, which, incidentally, was anything but an afternoon tea party, but he always bounced back off the floor ready for more. He'll be a welcome addition to any college basketball team after his graduation from Menlo.

"Clark Gable" Zannini

By the way, there was a little guy out there on the court with a purple and gold upper on that was playing something other than tidie-winkie, himself. Clem "Clark Gable" Zannini just about won that old ball game for the Gaters, what with the twelve points that he dropped through the hoop. This "two foot two" forward of Coach Farmer's has a habit of coming through for State in the tough contests where the Gaters need points like yours truly need money. I have a very vivid recollection of a game last month in which State wasn't having such a merry evening. They were playing the Butler Bros. five on the Salvarian Army court, and were enjoying it about as much as a twelve-year-old enjoys the first day of school after vacation. Came the final five minutes, and the Gaters were two points in the rear. Enter Mr. Zannini. Bang! Bang! Two held shots through the iron ring from the hands of "smilin' Clem," and Coach Farmer's heart drops and back out of his throat, and State wins, 24-22. Good work, Clem, old boy, we appreciate your efforts.

SAN JOSE STATE ENDS GATER WIN STREAK, GAINING 33-28 VICTORY IN SLOW CONTEST

Spartans Get Jump on Gaters, Taking 9-1 Lead Five Minutes After Tip-off, Mirande High Point Man

By FRANK SCHWASS

Victims of personal fouls, injuries, and stage fright, the Gater basketball team had its first taste of defeat in thirteen starts last Saturday night at the hands of a powerful San Jose State five by a 33 to 28 score. The game was played in the new Spartan pavilion on the Garden City college's campus, before fifteen hundred rabid partisan San Jose rooters.

Coach Dan Farmer started Mirande, Gelatt, Atkinson, Williams, and Post. The local squad found it difficult to adjust themselves to the large Spartan court, and the San Jose team rang up six points before Mirande took State's name out of the goose-egg class. Mirande repeated under the basket, but De Selle and Downs of the home team also found the bucket. "Scooter" Gelatt dropped a beauty from the sidelines, and stretched the netting again with a foul try to make the score 13-6 in favor of San Jose.

San Jose Leads at Half

Williams made good on a foul try, and Gelatt scored another field goal to make the score 20-9, with State on the short end, as the gun ended the half. The Gaters appeared woefully outclassed and, with Harry Post out on fouls, it began to look like an overwhelming defeat was in the offing for them. A bunch of grim-visaged warriors of the court came out for State in the second half. Zannini began the scoring with a foul try, closely followed by Harvey Williams, who clicked with a sneaker under the bucket, and then came right back to make good on two foul tries. Holmberg of the Black and Whites plopped the casaba through the hoop for another pair of S. J. digits. Gelatt, playing a hard, fast game with his usual finesse, twisted his ankle, and was forced to withdraw from the game. Drexel of the Spartans resumed his team's scoring spree with a sneaker under the State basket. Taylor of the Southern team dropped a long one, and was followed by "Queenie" Chioino, who raised the State ante by two. Taylor came through again, and Chioino, not to be outdone, also repeated. Holmberg of San Jose made good on a foul try, but "Slip" Mirande raised him one by making good on two foul shots. Mirande sent a ray of hope into the State rooters by sinking a difficult shot under the home-town hoop.

Bragg Sinks One

"General" Bragg, subbing for Williams, made good on a thriller from midcourt. Mirande again crept behind the Spartan defense for another field goal, and Manion sank the prettiest shot of an evening—a difficult hook-shot while twisting in mid-air. Biddle of San Jose ended the evening's scoring with a long field goal, making it 33-28 in favor of the Spartans. The final gun killed State's hopes of winning its thirteenth straight game. Without indulging in a "crying-jag" or trying to manufacture alibis, it can be safely said that State was the recipient of more tough breaks in this contest than in any previous tilt this year. The Gaters had a tough struggle with Menlo J. C. on the previous night; Gelatt went out of the game with a sprained ankle; Chioino had a pulled muscle in his leg; Williams, Post and Mirande went out on fouls, and the San Jose court is 15 feet longer than the local floor, and that makes a difference in the shooting. Mirande brought some consolation to the Gaters by capturing high point honors with nine digits.

Mirande Sets Record

George "Slip" Mirande, star forward on the State varsity, established a new high point record for the college in the game played with the U. S. S. New Mexico five in the college gym a fortnight ago. George made twenty points, registering ten field goals, five in each half, to eclipse the old record of eighteen held by Merv Chioino.

WELCOME BACK, RUNAR

RUNAR "SWEET SIXTEEN"
STONE, who has returned to college. "Ru" is one of the greatest all-around track men that has ever come out of the west. Three years ago he averaged sixteen and two-thirds points a meet for the State track team, scoring 100 points in six meets. As an example of his prowess, in 1932 the Gaters met the Dons of U. S. F., and were soundly whipped by Montague, Kleckner, Warford and Co., 96-34. BUT, "RU" STONE MADE TWENTY POINTS FOR STATE, winning the high and low hurdles, tying for first in the high jump, and placing second in the broad jump and javelin throw. What a man!

His best marks for the various events that he competes in are:

HARRY POST RUNS WILD AS STATE SLAUGHTERS CUBS

Harry Post couldn't miss that night, so, as a result, the State quintet chalked up a 37 to 18 victory over the Santa Rosa J. C. Bear Cubs in the college gym on the evening of December 15. Harry tanked seven field goals and a charity toss to gather fifteen digits, high point honors by a mile. And, he didn't play the whole game either, being forced out on four fouls midway in the second half.

The Bear Cubs had a big, strong bunch of basket-teers on the floor, but the superior polish of the Gaters, coupled with the basket-shooting proclivities of the marauding Post, were too much for the boys from the Valley of the Moon.

State jumped into an early lead, as has been their wont of late, and led, 21-8, at the intermission. They coasted through the second half to ring up their tenth straight victory of the season, never being in danger of losing the ball game.

George Mirande trailed his teammate, Post, for high point honors, tallying nine digits, six from the field, and three from the foul line.

Appropriately for Post's performance, it was a Saturday evening.

SPORT FLASHES

By JAMES HAMROCK

With a grim determination to beat U. S. C., the Stanford boys staged a fine exhibition of basketball at Palo Alto Saturday night. Although they were unable to put a restraining hand on Lee Guttor, Trojan ace, who made thirteen points, the Cardinals went to town with the fanciest shots that a Stanford team has displayed since their last basketball championship five in 1922. The Indians won by a margin of two points in a 38-36 game, and thereby leveled off with the Trojans in the second game of the Conference series. "Gyp" Turner, Stanford forward, hit the basket from all angles and distances, to count fourteen points for high point honors.

The Knights of Columbus charity grid game next Sunday promises to be a genuine thriller with many of the greatest "has-beens" of intercollegiate football once more stepping into the limelight.

COACH DAVE COX SOUNDS CALL FOR TRACK PRACTICE

Faced with the task of turning out a track team, after suffering the loss of four real track men from last season's aggregation, Charlie Pomerantz, the high scorer for the year; Berger Johnson, whose best mark in the javelin was 194 feet; Ed Henry, a 99 hundred yard dash man, and a mighty fast furlong runner, too; and Ray Allee, a fifty foot shot putter, who also copped many a first place in the discus, Coach Dave Cox should "by rights" be going around with a face two feet long. But Coach Cox, with his usual "grim optimism," looks Fate in the eye, and laughs.

As a nucleus around which to build, Coach Cox has fourteen men who have won letters in track at State. Chief among this group is "Ru" Stone, who AVERAGED sixteen and two-thirds points a meet two seasons ago for the Gaters. "Ru" was not in college last track season, but he's back now, "arin to go. The other veterans are Al Parrish, Harvey Williams, Dick Davis, Bufford Shreve, Walberto Valadez, Keith Cox, Kenny Wilkes, Steve Ebert, Owen Jones, Dick Curtis, Hal Garden, Carl Gelatt, and Emory Creter.

GATERS TRIM FRESNO STATE FIVE 41-38; CARL GELATT SCORES FOURTEEN POINTS

Coach Farmer's Team Has 20-14 Half-time Advantage; Harry Post and "Harv" Williams Play Good Ball

By VERNON WHITNEY

Leading from the opening whistle and never suffering the ignominy of being behind, the State varsity won its twelfth straight contest of the current season by whipping the Fresno State Bulldogs, 41-38, in a game played January 5 in the college gym. It was the fastest and most exciting encounter of the year, one that had the fans on edge all evening, and left many a devotee of basketball with a hoarse throat the next morning.

Carl Gelatt opened the scoring for the Gaters three minutes after the tip-off, with a follow-up of a shot by Harvey Williams. A moment later, Ed Dittenbirr Fresno forward, dropped a free throw to make it 2-1, but Gelatt sank a long one, and State led, 4-1. Another free throw by Dittenbirr, and a field goal by Manson Reid, Bulldog forward, knotted it at 4-4, but Merv Chioino made a basket for the Purple and Gold on a follow-up of another one of Williams' attempts, and the Gaters were never headed, nor even tied, thereafter.

State Wipes Out Cal-Sec Loss, 49-22

Chioino and Gelatt Run Wild to Lead Gater Five to Victory

Wiping out their lone defeat of the season, Coach Farmer's State varsity ran wild to slaughter the California Secretarial School cagers, 49-22, in a game played December 21 in the college gym. The Cal-Secs had previously gained a questionable 23-21 win over the Gaters in a contest in which they were outplayed from whistle to whistle, only some atrocious shooting by the State five, coupled with a brilliant exhibition by "Buddy" Langley, visiting guard, enabling the Secretaries to eke out their scant victory; the Gaters were coming fast at the finish, having steadily cut down their opponents behind at the intermission, 15-10. Carl Gelatt, State forward, was hitting them from all angles in this period, tallying eleven of his team's fifteen points.

At the outset of the second half, Merv "Queenie" Chioino took up the burden, and sank sixteen points during the twenty minutes, to run off with high point honors with a total of eighteen for the contest, Gelatt being a step behind at seventeen.

While his team-mates, Chioino and Gelatt, were ringing the bell for thirty-five digits between them, Harry Post, stellar guard, was sticking to the Cal-Sec threat, Langley, like fly-paper to a two-year-old's fingers. Harry clung to Langley like a leech all evening, and held the hitherto Gater nemesis to a measly four points.

The victory ran the Gaters' string to eight straight.

Post Stars
While his team-mates, Chioino and Gelatt, were ringing the bell for thirty-five digits between them, Harry Post, stellar guard, was sticking to the Cal-Sec threat, Langley, like fly-paper to a two-year-old's fingers. Harry clung to Langley like a leech all evening, and held the hitherto Gater nemesis to a measly four points.

The victory ran the Gaters' string to eight straight.

Ralph "Spider" Mannion . . . who made his debut in Gater athletics last Saturday night in that heart-breaking San Jose State-San Francisco State basketball game, which snapped the winning streak of Coach Dan Farmer's five, on the threshold of thirteen. Ralph turned in a sterling performance at center, and with a little more luck on his shots might have turned the tide for the Purple and Gold.

Mannion is a sophomore at State, and has three years of competition, including the present one, left. He knows what it is all about out there on the hardwood, having held down a forward position on the Stanford Frosh in 1933, and back in his high school days at Roosevelt in Oakland, having been selected as All-Oakland Athletic League forward.

Ralph is the ideal basketball type. He is a tall, rangy fellow, standing six feet two in his bare feet, and weighing in the neighborhood of a hundred and sixty pounds. Welcome to our city, Ralph.

Miss England: "First of all, tell me a little more about the minutest."

Dumb Frosh: "We ain't at no men. We ain't no cannibals."

Great Play
The next basket was the result of a beautifully executed play, which the Gaters staged with the smoothness of a bond salesman and the finesse of a bridge champion. Gelatt passed to Chioino, who in turn passed to Atkinson, who relayed to Williams, who had come running into the "hole" at full speed. Harvey laid the ball up to the hoop, and it parted the mesh for two points. The spectators roared at the ease with which Coach Farmer's boys pulled it off. It left the Fresno five standing there like a bunch of wooden Indians, with such quickness and dispatch was it executed.

From then on it was all San Francisco. They increased their lead to 20-14 at the half, and though the Bulldogs fought on with the traditional persistence of their namesakes, it was "no soap." It just wasn't Fresno's night—the Gaters were "hot," and could have given any quintet a battle. But, make no mistake about the ability of this Raisin City five—it is my guess that they will be up there in the Far Western Conference race this year.

Gelatt Shares Honors
Carl Gelatt of State and Manson Reid of Fresno shared high point honors with fourteen apiece, while Merv Chioino of the Gaters was paired with Olivia Soimila of the Bulldogs with ten for each man. The Gaters got ninety shots at the hoop, of which they sank seventy-seven. Meanwhile they were holding their opponents to sixty-two attempts, twelve of them paying off. Fresno picked up seven points from the foul line, making good fourteen out of twenty-three times, while the Gaters were only sinking seven out of eighteen tries.

To pick out individual stars on the State five would be unfair—the entire team played marvelous basketball during the whole game. The Purple and Gold quintet had one of those nights that every coach dreams about—a night in which every man plays up to his capabilities, and in which the team plays real basketball for the entire forty minutes without even a moment's letdown. Its counterpart in baseball is the laconic "no hits, no runs, no errors" game that comes once in a blue moon.

Reid, Soimila Good
Fresno had two boys that were at home on the hardwood, as a glance at the summary will attest. Manson Reid, the forward, and Olivia Soimila, the center, can play on my team any day. Soimila, a wiry fellow built on the order of "Leaping Lee" Guttor, the marvelous Trojan center, plays a wonderful floor game, hounding the ball like a member of the Canadian Northwest Mounted hounds his man. On the recent barnstorming trip of the Fresno team to the southern part of the state, Soimila scored twenty-six points in a single game, which is a mark for any eager to aim at.

MAYBE I'M LYON

BY "BEV"

Thoughts While Strolling the Campus:
Fun during Registration: Harold Beseman's Beeman's gum paper being mistaken for a five dollar bill by Mr. Nee, who should really know better by this time. . . . Millie Bush's cute little dimples. . . . A sigh of relief was heard by many when it was discovered that the new annex had not floated away during the recent rains. However, it has almost been decided to hold swimming classes down there now. . . . And there's the tricky fellow that tried to get out of the cafe using a car-ticket. . . . Symposium plans are floating through the air—from all signs, it's going to be even better than last time. "Cause why? 'Cause Ed Morgan says so. . . ."

To the Freshmen:
Welcome to State! We're glad to have you here. Have you noticed the friendly spirit that prevails? Smile your way along and see what fun it is.

Glaucous During the Game:
Helen Wesley and Johnny Norton, all eyes, during the game with Menlo last Friday. . . . Bob Coss and Joe Lee, playing good games for the 45's. . . . Mabel Roberts, Dot Skelly and Bruce Roberts, recent graduates, among the spectators. . . . Hal Delma chewing gum a mile in two minutes. . . . Gene Dumesnil keeping perfect time with Hal even though five feet away. . . . Ralph Simon, taking a chance on a "long shot" during the game. But, did he show them! . . . Roy Nicolaysen and Otto Bolle—the Gold Dust Twins—cheering (?) the 45's on. . . . Clem Zannini and Harry Post, taking honors for the variety. And some enthusiastic Post fan calls out, in a tense moment, "Oh, Guard, please don't let Menlo J. C. win." . . . Hal Garden escorting Barbara Elliot around the gym. . . . And what dark-haired little fellow was Patsy Berry watching so closely during the lightweights' game?

Simple Sal wants to know if she can have a new dress made of the "football material" Coach Cox talks so much about.

Word Puzzle:
Find a State fellow's name in the following sentence. He's prominent on the Registration Committee.
"For Trice sake, hit a Homer, somebody!"

Famous Words of Famous People:
The Golden Gater business manager, Frank Schwass, says: "I'd rather watch the horses down at Bay Meadows than see any number of fan dancers."

ON OTHER CAMPI

BY TUCK

According to a student at Eureka, nicotine is such a deadly poison that a drop of it on the tail of a dog would kill a man.

San Jose State is offering a new two-unit course, "Human Habitat," for students wanting some background for an understanding of present day civilization. Class is held three hours a week and there will be no homework—only a term paper is required. No grades will be given, the students being passed or failed on the plus-minus system.

Talk about burning the midnight oil! In the early '80's, the staff of the Normal Index, now the Spartan Daily of San Jose State, edited the paper using oil lamps and candles. This paper was then the only one published in any college on the coast (and the Gater staff???)

Golden Gate Junior College is one of the few coeducational institutions on the Pacific Coast having more men than women students. The ratio is three to two.

The staff of the Fresno Collegian is not in the "dog house" this time. Over the holidays, the staff office was renovated to make separate offices for the various editors. In their anxiety to make everything just so, three horse stalls were built. (Now the staff is just horsing around!)

At a recent meeting of the Far Western Conference coaches and managers in San Francisco, all of the mentors were on speaking terms before and after the confab, which is something. Leo Harris, popular Fresno football coach, was elected president of the association.

MUSICAL NOTES OF M. M. CAHN

Things are really looking up. As Dr. Knuth says, "We've got the best material, equipment, facilities and chances for success this semester that we've had in the history of the department."

As soon as a few more desks, chairs, pianos and a ferry service are installed, things will really start humming along. We who ruined shoes, socks and clothes in the heroic attempt to attend classes last week would appreciate the ferry service. Overlooking that, it seems that 1935 is going to be a banner year for the Music Federation.

José Iturbi's piano recital last Saturday night was another gem which he might add to his string of successes. To quote Daniel Popovich, State student and pianist, "His sense of beauty, coloring and form made him outstanding." Equipped with scholarly technique, plus a masterly sense of interpretation, Iturbi deserves the title of the finest of America's younger pianists.

There ought to be a society for Prevention of Cruelty to Singers. At the Golden Gate theater this week, Lysbeth Hughes sings three operatic arias at each performance, including a very difficult one from "Lakme." Miss Hughes is singing these arias four and five times a day, and the strain is telling on her, as was evidenced the other night when she "broke down" in the middle of the "Lakme" solo.

Cahn-Notations:
AUDREY STEWART, State student and a swell dancer, who appeared at the Warfield Theater last week, has been held over another week. . . . BOB ARNOLD and PAUL BARRETT are back at school again after spending the winter holiday playing an engagement at Yosemite. JIMMY SNYDER will be the past, present and future president of the Music Federation. . . . No one dares run against him. . . .

Today's Riddle:
What about the San Francisco Symphony?

Welcome!

By Dorothy Locke.

HIT AND MISS

BY HARRY MARKS

LAST WEEK 1414 State students trooped to class. . . . Included were about one hundred and fifty freshmen. . . . Seven new classrooms will help to reduce crowded conditions. . . . Dr. Treutlein, new social science "prof" on the campus, brings the total number of faculty members to ninety. . . . I saw Dr. Floyd Cave looking at social science books in the library stacks before classes started. . . . and Dr. Arnesen looking at English books. . . . and Miss Bock looking at journalism texts. . . . Some of the old familiar faces are gone—but the replacements are not so bad. . . . Dan Baker says the new frosh girls are okeh. . . . Dan ought to know, he took their pictures for the office record cards. . . . The Co-op has had its semi-annual overhauling and is again doing a big business. . . . There is a certain thrill about opening a clean new book. . . . And most of us felt that way when we went to classes in the new buildings for the first time.

Did you ever notice..in a roomful of people..the difference between one cigarette and another..and wonder why Chesterfields have such a pleasing aroma

Many things have to do with the aroma of a cigarette . . . the kind of tobaccos they are made of . . . the way the tobaccos are blended . . . the quality of the cigarette paper.

IT takes good things to make good things.

Someone said that to get the right aroma in a cigarette, you must have the right quantity of Turkish tobacco—and that's right.

But it is also true that you get a pleasing aroma from the home-grown tobaccos . . . tobaccos filled with Southern Sunshine, sweet and ripe.

When these tobaccos are all blended and cross-blended the Chesterfield way, balanced one against the other, you get a flavor and fragrance that's different from other cigarettes.

"Hello, Atkins."
"Good afternoon, Mr. Wood," said Atkins, taking the master's hat and coat.
"Hello, Mary, have a good bridge game?"
"Dreadful."
"Could I talk to you a minute, dear?"
"Please wait, Roger. You know contract always gives me a beastly headache."
"But --"

Mary went on upstairs to her room.

The telephone rang. It was Gerald calling to say he was staying at the club for dinner.

Roger went to the radio, but no sooner did he have vague promises of a good station, than the door opened and in burst Rosalie with a crew of friends.

"Just came from the game, Dad, and we won. See how State's doing, Jerry. You have money on that game, too, don't you?"

And Jerry turned the dials till he got a blustering account of a game somewhere farther north.

Roger retired to the library. From the din in the adjoining room one might have guessed that the game itself was no more distant than the radio. Hearing the front door open and close, he looked out in the hall questioningly—ah, the mob gone, now he could see Rosalie. Atkins returned from closing the front door to say that Miss Rosalie had gone on a house party for the weekend.

"All right, Atkins, Buddy won't be home, either. Mrs. Wood and I will dine alone."

"I beg pardon, sir, but Mrs. Wood had some milk toast in her room and has asked not to be disturbed. Shall I serve you in the dining room?"

"It doesn't matter, Atkins, never mind. Guess I'll go to the club to eat tonight."

Returning from the club he asked Atkins to order extra copies of the morning paper and to put one in the room of each member of the family.

He had hopes that at a late breakfast he would see some of his wandering family, but his hopes were futile.

"Atkins, I have something to tell which I cannot keep any longer. Will you listen to me? Yesterday I learned that I have inherited my Uncle Jacob's --"

Atkins pardoned himself to answer the telephone:

"It's Miss Rosalie, sir. She says to tell you she's coming right home and wants to know why you didn't tell her anything about it."

Dignified Gerald slid down the banister, followed by bathrobed and frownsled Buddy:

"Why didn't you let us in on it, Dad?"

"Good morning, dear. Why didn't you tell me? I have to read the newspapers to learn anything about my own husband."

"I ask you dear, is that fair?"

"But why so secretive about a gold mine in Alaska? Dear, you know I always listen to you."

BOOKS

B MURDER CALLING, by David Whitelaw (Claude Kendall, $2). When they murder a man in the first chapter of a mystery thriller, and then "do him in" again in chapter five, you have the basis for a real evening of intrigue and excitement. Despite the fact that it is all quite simple in the end, you really will be kept guessing as to the identity of the real "caller" of this murder.

C THE GOODHUES OF SINKING CREEK, by W. R. Burnett (Harper, $1.50). This long short-story of the before-the-Civil-war period has caused reams of comment by the critics, but its rapid narrative and matter-of-fact style has much that will bring the commendation of many. A feud-story with a new twist, it centers around the old North-South theme that has been done to death already.

MOVIES

A THE WHITE PARADE plays upon the same theme as did "Men in White," but John Boles and Loretta Young make it pleasantly different and realistically interesting. Despite the fact that parts of the picture are a bit clinical and academic, it won't bore you, and the dramalets that break up what might easily become monotony give touches of humor and humanity that add greatly to its appeal.

C GIRL OF THE LIMBER-LOST—This newest filming of the famed Porter novel will probably bring so many tears that you will be kept from going to sleep. Louise Dresser, Ralph Morgan, and Marian Marsh feature a cast that brings many saving graces to the picture. Betty Blythe, as the bird woman, provides the brightest moments of the hour and a half consumed, but she is so limited in her performance that they are few.

RADIO

A CHAMBER MUSIC—Sponsored by the Elizabeth Sprague Coolidge Foundation and the Library of Congress, this new series of four broadcasts will feature concerts by leading virtuosi and chamber music ensembles of America. To be heard on the series are: William Primrose, violinist; Nadia Reisenberg, pianist; the Philadelphia Chamber String Symphonietta; and the Roth String Quartet. (CBS-WABC network, Saturdays, 4:30 P. M. EST.)

B HOLLYWOOD ON THE AIR—With the signing of Donald Novis, tenor, to star in "45 Minutes in Hollywood," this weekly picture preview program adds another headliner to its already pretentious roster. Also featured are Maria Silveira, soprano, the Four Eton Boys, and Mark Warnow's orchestra. Novis sings new tunes from the latest Hollywood cinema releases. (CBS-WABC network, Thursday, 10 P. M. EST.)
